

Asha's Adventures

Pirates, unicorns, fairies, princesses, Mrs Twit, Matilda, Spiderman, Little Red Riding Hood, Wally, Wanda, Hermione, Harry and many others all visited KPS on Friday for our annual Book Week parade. Book Week celebrates children's literature and reading. This year, there is also a Book Fair in the stadium foyer until the end of the week. My pawket money and I will be visiting to check out the selection of books available for pawchase. Not only do we get to buy pawsome books, but KPS benefits too as we get a pawcentage of sales in books for classrooms and the library. Pretty cool, huh?

Matilda and Grade 2G

Mrs Twit and Grade 2T

Above: I spotted a herd, or frolic, of fairies in the staffroom. Did you know that's what you call a group of fairies? I didn't either, but Google helped me find out! I think they look a lot like the Grade 3/4 teachers – pawhaps there was something strange in the water on camp earlier in the week that turned them all into fairies? Left: Where's Asha? Wenda and Wally can be tricky to spot so I was really happy when they found me instead!

Overheard this week on my classroom visits and yard pawtrolls...
 "Asha, what is your pirate name?" "Can I call you Ash for short?"

"Are you coming on camp?"
